

Doesn't Washington have enough to do without going after satellite radio???? I bought my XM radio unit and misc. components so I could listen to real music and get traffic and weather without having to listen to the local radio stations. The local stations (except the public radio stations that host NPR, etc., & the Boston classical station) play the same music, the same ANNOYING commercials and a bare minimum of news.

Give me a break! Figure out what to do to get our soldiers home and what to do about gas prices, & when you're done with that, work on the budget, clean air, highways...I could go on and on... and leave satellite radio alone!!!
